

Event Hire

The London Review Bookshop is available for evening hire between 7 p.m. and 9.30 p.m. With its elegant, spacious ground floor, its stylish Cake Shop and its newly refurbished downstairs space, the shop is a unique Bloomsbury venue for a range of private events.

'The best place to launch books in the world's greatest city for books'

Poet and Publisher

EVENT HIRE

Upstairs at the London Review Bookshop

In spring and summer, flooded with natural light from windows at both ends of the ground floor, the shop has a wonderfully airy feel. And when the nights draw in, the generously lit interior glows with an atmosphere of warmth and conviviality. The ground floor space accommodates up to 100 guests, standing or sitting. A favourite with publishers for book launches, the upstairs space is ideal for private parties, larger meetings or private author events.

We also have a unique exhibition space in the London Review Cake Shop. Please contact Terry Glover, Cake Shop Manager, for more information: tglover@lrbookshop.co.uk

'It was an absolutely fantastic evening. Can't wait to do the next event with you'

Downstairs at the London Review Bookshop

Furnished with a large table and accommodating up to 30 additional chairs, the downstairs space works well for smaller book launches and author events, round-table discussions, reading groups and seminars. Cosy, quiet and intensely private, Downstairs at the London Review Bookshop is the perfect place to think and talk.
